

Livestock Evacuation Rescind

It is now safe to return to your property. Here are some recommendations for your next steps.

You will have 96 hours from the time of the Evacuation Rescind to return your animals home.

In some circumstances, an extension of time may be approved.

Before returning your animals home, head to your property and assess it for damage.

Record any damage to send to your insurance provider and the Regional District of Bulkley-Nechako.

Only return your animals when it is safe to do so.

If animals are not claimed from the relocation site within 96 hours, they may be considered impounded and dealt with using the procedures of the Pound District Regulation and Livestock Act.

In the event of animal loss of life, contact the Regional District of Bulkley-Nechako for assistance.
